

Capstone Project

Unit 9: Capstone, Part II Part II Resources

Resource 0: Project Overview

This document corresponds with an off-platform project:

- Capstone: WareHouse

The following document contains a set of user stories to help inform your design decisions in this project. Once you have completed reviewing the resources, return to the project instructions provided at the link above.

Resource 1: User Stories

Read the following User Personas:

User Stories
User	Task	Reason
As a user,	I should be able to clearly see where one product grid item ends and another	so that there is a visual distinction between items.

	starts,
As a user,	I should be able to clearly see the difference between headings and paragraph text styles,	so that I know what text is more important and what is consider additional information.
As a user,	I should be able to clearly see the difference between non-clickable text and clickable text	so that I know where to click when trying to access a new view
As a user,	I should be able to use a screen reader on the website	so that I can navigate the site's content and pages if I need extra assistance
As a user,	I should be able to recognize the brands core color palette in the design	so that I can form a relationship with the brands colors
